CAPTURED IN ORANGE COUNTY AFTER MONTH'S HUNT

L. E. FARMER

JOE TRACEY

O. B. JARMAN

Sheriff of Osceola County, Who Was Instrumental in Furnishing Captive With Clue

A Member of the Notorious Ashley Gang, Who Made Sensational Escape in St. Cloud

Florida Criminal Investigator, Who Effected Capture of Tracey Last Saturday

Joe Tracey, Who Escaped in St. Cloud, Nabbed By Officers In Orange County

OFFICER JARMAN, FROM WHOM TRACEY ESCAPED WHILE HERE, MAKES CAPTURE—TRACEY RETURNED TO PRISON FARM AT RAIFORD.

Joe Tracey, member of the now extinct, notorious John Ashley gang is again a prisoner of the state of Florida.

Captured shortly after midnight Saturday morning as he was hiding in the attic of a house in the village of Wewahatche, southeastern Orange county, Tracey was taken to Raiford at once.

He had been a fugitive from justice in his latest escapade with the law, some nine hours more than four weeks. He escaped at St. Cloud, Osceola county, from accompanying officers on the afternoon of August 6.

Tracey before the "treasure hunt" was a member of what is known as the "eight spot" gang, which is composed of new and unruly prisoners, who are not given the privileges of the honor system in vogue at the prison farm, but are forced to work under armed guards.

Tracey arriving at Raiford would not talk, but with the broad smile which plays on his face at all times greeted the prison officials as he drew out his suit of stripes, and said that the place "looked mighty familiar."

Within an hour after his arrival at the prison farm he was taken to the blacksmith shop, where irons were placed upon him.

O. B. Jarmann, who effected his capture, told Superintendent Blitch that Tracey said at breakfast that he would not be in the state farm more than thirty days before regaining his freedom. This Tracey vigorously denied, and said that he wanted to talk to J. W. Mosely, deputy guard at the prison, before making any statement in regard to his capture.

Accompanying Mr. Jarmann and Tracey in the automobile to the prison farm were D. W. Dority, Jr., deputy sheriff of Orange county, who accompanied Mr. Jarmann to the attic of the house in which Tracey was captured, and Sheriff Farmer of Osceola county, to whom Mr. Jarmann assigns a large part of the credit for the capture of the bandit.

The trio, after delivering their prisoner and receiving a receipt for him, departed for Orlando.

"I feel that I have done my whole duty," said Mr. Jarmann "by the help of God I have captured him. My conscience has been clear from the start, but I have prayed and hoped that I might get him and return him to prison. I have received every aid from authorities with whom I have come in contact, and during the past eight days have waded through swamps and ponds and have made at least a dozen raids."

ST. CLOUD ARCHERS WIN TOURNAMENT AT DAVENPORT

In the archery tournament at Davenport Labor Day, the St. Cloud team won the first event contesting for the Davenport Yacht Club Trophy.

The score was:
Orlando: 116
St. Cloud: 125
Altoona: 125
Total: 241

The Davenport Yacht Trophy is a silver shield mounted on wood. It is to be competed for three times by the St. Cloud and Orlando clubs.

The St. Cloud Club will have a tournament in the near future to shoot off the second event in the series.

Tracey, the last surviving member of the notorious John Ashley gang, was arrested near Wewahatche by O. B. Jarmann, Jr., state criminal investigator of the Seventeenth Judicial circuit, after being located in the attic of the house of Willie Haddock.

Receiving a tip that Tracey was at Wewahatche, near Orlando, Jarmann, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff D. W. Dority, Jr., and George Jump, of Orange county, rushed to the small village to investigate.

Upon arriving, the officers found three houses close together and were in doubt as to the house in which the escaped prisoner was believed to be hiding. Selecting one of the buildings, Jarmann and Dority entered the first floor and made a search.

Hidden by Chimney

Failing to locate their man, Jarmann entered the attic and found Tracey hiding behind a chimney.

Hello Tracey! greeted Jarmann. "I had rather see you than my own heart blood." The arrest was made without resistance on the part of Tracey, which occurred before Dority had reached the attic.

Wewahatche is in the southeastern section of Orange county in the undeveloped territory adjacent to the swamp lands of the lower stretches of the St. Johns river basin. This section of the country could possibly be classified as the upper regions of semi-everglade lands.

CRIMINAL RECORD OF JOE TRACEY

Tracey had a long criminal record. He was serving a term at Raiford for robbery when called to trial for the murder of a negro taxi driver. Convicted of this crime, he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

State officials agreed to allow Tracey to go in quest of the bonds after members of his party said the handily realized that the bonds would be of no use to him and that they would be destroyed in a short while as they were buried in swampy land.

The spot where the loot was supposed to be buried was in the Everglades south of Okeechobee. Leaving Raiford, the party went to West Palm Beach from Okeechobee, doubled back to Canal Point and then back to Okeechobee. On the return there none of the party would say whether any bonds had been discovered, but Tracey told friends that "our work in this part of the country is finished."

At the time of the escape, friends of officers in the party declared they were waiting for the return to Raiford before making an announcement of the search for the bonds.

St. Cloud Labor Day Celebration Enjoyed By Huge Crowd Monday

Hundreds of people who assembled at the City Park on Monday, September 27th, to enjoy the celebration of Labor Day, were not disappointed. The committee in charge of arrangements for the day had something doing from start to finish.

The afternoon program began with the audience singing two verses of "America." Invocation by Mrs. M. Pickett-Foster. A playlet followed entitled "Labor and Love" given by Wilma Linnam, Edna Browning, Francis Conn, Barbara Whitmer, Marjorie Outlaw, Ruth Daniels, Marjorie Coker, Harriett Dawley, Dorothy Clark, June Johnston and Chaucer Nelson Coleman, closing with a solo, "Labor and Love," by Mrs. Lindholm which was one of the most excellent numbers on the entire program.

The crowd then retired to the tennis courts where games were played. Those participating were: Major P. Brooke, John Carlin, Preston Johnson and Misses Marion Jennings and Alene Moon. Mr. and Mrs. Cottrell, Colvin Parker and Lillian Godwin.

Refreshment booths arranged over the park selling ice cream were in charge of Misses Ruth McMullen and Alpha Wood; Candy booths Misses Eleanor Farr, Henrietta Hodges, Carroll Henry and Dorothy George; Pop corn booths in charge of Misses Vera Johnson, Rosemary Landies and Geraldine Johnson; Cold drinks in charge of Misses Leora Mix and Mary Parker and G. M. Moses.

The cafeteria supper which consisted of everything the market produced, was served by Mesdames Ruth Parker, Marion Bloech, Ethel Reed, Rosemary, Edna Goss, H. S. Dawley, J. Roy Long.

Ethel Crawford, Ruby Bailey, Alma Blanchard, Rosenthal, Adams, Moses, Misses Katherine Goff, Alene Moon, Otto Bloech, acted as cashier.

Evening Program
Viola solo, with accompaniment, by Miss Mable Steen, Reading, "The Fireman's Wedding," Barbara Whitmer, Song, black faced character song, "She's My Baby," Jessa Godwin and Dorothy George, which started the evening's fun. The Charleston contest by Frances Williams, Alice Williams, Bernice Supp and Junita Wisger.

The Black Face Wedding followed the Charleston contest and opened with a parody on "Here Comes the Bride," by Jessa Godwin and Dorothy George. Bride, Edwin Peterson, "Magnolia," Bridgroom, Theo. R. George, "Rastus Brown," Groomsman, Preston Brooks; father of groom, Wilbur Hodges; mother of groom, Ira Weatherbee; father of bride, Power Milner, who gave bride away; the parson was Cecil Outlaw; ring bearer, Basil Brooks; the train bearers of bride's veil, Bobby Steen and Buster Outlaw; flower girls, Albert Milson and Randal Goston; bridesmaids, Steen, Randal Diefendorf, and Drifton Hargett; groomsmen Jay Johnston, Ray Drigert and Basil Albert; Chof, Jessa Godwin and Dorothy George; dancers Halse George, Wilbur George and Randal Goston.

One could not have had more fun to the square inch than these boys pulled off. And the committee consisting of Mesdames Ed George, A. E. Cowger, Mike Peterson and Miss Rosemary Landies assisted by Scoutmaster Peterson and his boys scouts, deserve much credit for the wedding being a success.

WORD ABOUT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOOKLET

The Chamber of Commerce had planned on a new issue of the St. Cloud booklet to appear on the first of September. Like most city booklets the original idea was to talk about St. Cloud and nothing but St. Cloud, but then the thought came, how about the sister towns and communities to the east and the south east of us? It would hardly be worth their while to go to the expense of an independent publication, the cost would be prohibitive, but since their interests are our interests and their well being our well being, since all this is true, why not make a community affair of it? Why not invite him from Narbonne, Griffin from Holopaw, and Miner from Kennaville to come on in with pictures of their points of interest and with a write up of their special story? The idea seemed good and word was sent out last week and all but Kennaville have been heard from and will be with us. We will make this "An Eastern Half" book.

It will mean a slight delay in the getting together of the material and the pictures, but the delay will be well worthwhile, for it will tie our mutual interests closer together, make us better acquainted one with another, and will give a better idea of what and who we are than could be otherwise obtained.

So if we are a bit late in keeping the new book, you will understand why, and when you see the result you will know that the delay has been more than justified by the results.

SONS OF UNION VETERANS ORGANIZE

On Saturday afternoon, September 25th at 7 o'clock in the G. A. R. Hall the organization of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War was perfected. Robert Young, division commander of Alabama, Tenn., was present, and after the organization proceeded to install the following officers: Commander, Hugh C. Perkins, Senior Vice President, John F. Bailey, Secretary and Treasurer, Clarence Bailey, and Chaplin, G. L. Weatherbee. The other officers will be appointed by the president at the next meeting on September 29. This meeting will be a reception and a good program will be given.

The out of town guests at this meeting were: Joseph Williams, commander Kit Carson post of St. Petersburg, and wife, and Mrs. Robert Young and daughter, of Alabama, Tenn.

The object of this organization will be to perpetuate the memory of the fallen heroes and to keep ever fresh in the memory the cause for which they fought.

The following is a list of charter members:
Hugh C. Perkins, Weston Bailey, who is possibly the oldest known son of a veteran, John F. Bailey, John DeGraw, Walter Ide, A. G. Demmon, Clarence Bailey, Colvin Parker, C. A. Hoffman, H. H. Horn, E. W. Weatherstone, Elmer Ide, B. L. Demmon, Lee Colvin, G. L. Weatherbee, F. H. Hale, Leon D. Lamm, Roy Vandenberg, B. L. Steen and C. E. Steen. There are quite a number who are eligible and will come in under the charter.

Dredge Work Progressing Despite Series of Delays To Operations

When the bonds were voted for the purchase of a dredge, among other items, the City Commission at the proper time made a contract with Maddox Foundry and Machine Company for a complete outfit, which was to be a "turn-key" job—that is, the outfit was to be thoroughly tested and ready to work.

There were a great many discouraging delays, and finally, after a great deal of comment, the dredge was declared ready to work some months ago. There were several small features about the outfit which were not entirely made right, and the City Commission, as yet, has never accepted the dredge, nor will they do so until such a time as the dredge is put into the shape, it was represented that it would be, and as covered by contract.

Various parts had not been lined up properly, and it was necessary, since the outfit had not been accepted, to shut down and wait for the men to come from the factory and make those things right. It all took quite a lot of time, for the Commission thought that it was and is up to the manufacturer to make the dredge right according to contract. There have been many small things wrong, which seem to have been caused by the work, not having been done properly in the first place, and the commission took the attitude that in view of expressions from the manufacturer that everything would be made right as soon as possible, that it would be better to go ahead and put it to work rather than shut down outright.

Many thousands of yards have been pumped and quite a few blocks of property filled in, as anyone can see by a trip to the east end of the city. When the dredge works, it is a most successful proposition, but the trouble is that it does not work enough of the time, but what comment must be made from those who are entirely familiar with the circumstances. It takes many hours to set up the pipe line, and because of the nature of the fill, or the majority of it, a very short time after everything is ready to do the actual work. When the time arrives when the dredge can make a really large fill, as in other places, it will be easier to see the results, for as it now is, the shallow fills do not show up as the quantity of sand pumped, but they are invaluable as to benefiting the property which has been filled.

Also, there has not been any provision made in any budget for the money to operate the dredge. It is entirely a self-supporting proposition, and no money has been raised by taxation to defray the expenses.

REALTORS TALK OVER IMPORTANT MATTERS

Although only a few realtors were present owing to the fact that T. G. Moore and H. S. Dawley were reported on the sick list and some of the other members with the president were absent from the city, those who were there spent the time discussing matters of importance, one of which was the housing proposition. The importance of being ready for the tourist population, which shows every indication of being great in number, was emphasized. The report of the number of foreign cars now passing over the bridge at Lake City and Jacksonville indicates that the crowds are coming earlier than usual.

It is expected that the next meeting will be well attended, as there will be several of the members returned who have been out of the city. This is sure to add real interest to the meeting. Those present at the meeting Friday were: Wm. Landies, H. A. Haymaker, C. E. Steen, Mrs. Louisa B. Rosenthal, and Mrs. B. Vreeland.

GOES TO MIAMI ON CATTLE BUSINESS

County Commissioner A. F. Bass went to Miami yesterday to look after the interests of the Bass & Phillips Cattle Co., who have large herds of beef cattle in Broward and Dade counties. This company supplies butchers in Miami with a large quantity of beef daily. Mr. Phillips, senior member of the firm is at present touring Europe.

CITY SCHOOLS TO OPEN FRIDAY MORNING

The city schools will open on Friday September 10th for the school term 1926-1927.

Parents are requested to send their children to school on the opening day in order that the list of free books needed can be forwarded to the school as early as possible. A card will be issued to each child, giving the number of books issued and the assigned book number of each book. This card should be carefully checked by the parents because the child is held responsible for all books issued. There are nineteen books on the free list, this does not include all text books used.

The total number of books issued to Osceola County is 5055, not enough to provide free books for all of the children enrolled in the first six grades of the County schools last year.

The value of the books received by the County is $3138.41, the cost to the County on three-quarter of a mill taxation, being $5,196.70. The County paying $5,058.28 more than is received in return, or we receive 39 per cent in books and donate 61 per cent to other counties by the free book law. The law cost Osceola county for the past year more than the total expense for administration of the county school affairs.

Hunter Tells Chamber Commerce More People Coming Than Before

There was a splendid attendance at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, September 29th. After the usual opening, while the luncheon was being served, President Landies announced that the opening song "Way Down upon the Swanee River," and all sang in unison.

After the minutes were read and approved, the president announced that a barbecue, at the Sanders place, on Alligator lake by the St. Cloud and Kissimmee Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges Thursday afternoon.

The committee on making preparation to go to Melbourne reported that many have expressed a desire to go. The time was set to meet at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters next Thursday, September 30th, at 9:30 o'clock, leaving promptly at 10:00 a. m. for Melbourne.

H. S. Dawley, chairman of band committee reported that investigation has shown that it is the universal opinion of the people of St. Cloud that we have a band in St. Cloud, and made a motion that the chamber go on record recommending that the city commission provide means of supporting a band. President Landies said that a like action was taken by the Realities Board at a recent meeting. The secretary was instructed to write letter to the Commission regarding this action.

G. C. Hunter, who was present after a brief vacation, in response to the hearty welcome, said that he had come with his golf sticks, his faith being so strong that everything was going forward and having seen by the Tribune plans of the proposed golf course, was assured that ere long he will need his sticks.

He also said that half a dozen bank failures would be nothing to compare with the calamity that would follow the loss of the wonderful co-operative spirit in St. Cloud. This was one of the things that attracted him here when he located in this city.

Mr. Hunter said that no matter if some fellow would say "there never was anything in it, never will be anything." Just because we only have one horse everyone should not bother that there will be more people in Florida than any previous year. The north is more prosperous, factories being enlarged and crops fine. Not the "gettinness and gettinness", but real substantial homesteaders and builders.

Advertourists Without Proper Credentials To Be Driven From Florida

FORT PIERCE, Sept. 8.—Warning to business men, Chambers of Commerce, Chiefs of Police and the public in general, all over Florida, is being sent out by the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the East Coast of Florida, B. H. Kessler of this city, secretary, of the activities of one person calling himself Rev. W. A. Phelps who is soliciting funds for an Old Folks Home at Dover, Florida.

The activities of this alleged Reverend gentleman in Fort Pierce was first called to the attention of the local Chamber of Commerce by one of the business men from whom he had solicited funds, claiming that he was from Chester, Pennsylvania and was soliciting funds for an Old Folks Home at Dover, Florida, and was selling calendars for that purpose. The business man gave him money but received no calendar but suggested to the solicitor that he present his credentials to the Chamber of Commerce before making further collections. The solicitor, calling himself Rev. A. Phelps, refused to do this, stating that he made it his business to keep as far away from the Chamber of Commerce as possible.

The actions of the solicitor aroused the suspicions of the business man who started an investigation. A letter was written the Postmaster at Dover, Florida, and the following answer received: "In reply to yours of August 21, I am sorry to say that I know nothing about an Old Folks Home being established here. There is one of these homes in Tampa and also a country farm near Tampa. As to the particulars, etc., I am not familiar. For further information I would advise you to apply to the County Commissioners, Hillsborough County at Tampa, Florida. Respectfully, Thomas H. Williams, P. M. by C. W."

A letter was also sent to the Hillsborough County Chamber of Commerce at Plant City and the following answer received: "Referring to your letter of the 21st addressed Chamber of Commerce, Dover, Florida, which you referred to this office under date of August 14th, we have made investigation of this and can find no knowledge of an Old Folks Home being established at Dover, Florida. Our Baptist Minister at this point says that he knows nothing of this, and if the matter was being handled through the Baptist church he would be acquainted of the fact. I am however making further investigation, and if found that this is being done will advise you. In the meantime, I would suggest that you have the solicitor produce evidence of his authority for his solicitation, and if I can serve you further please let me know. Cordially yours, H. H. Hoff, Secretary-Manager."

The local Chamber of Commerce sent the following wire on the 30th, Fort Pierce, Florida, August 30, 1938, Florida Baptist Convention Inc., 218 West Church Street, Jacksonville, Florida. Party claiming to be Rev. W. A. Phelps has been here soliciting funds for old folks home Dover, Florida. Stop Postmaster Dover and Chamber of Commerce Plant City also Baptist Minister Plant City there is no such home Stop is Phelps authorized Baptist minister and should continue.

Ready for Hop—New York to Paris

The stage is all set for the next big air feat, a non-stop flight—New York to Paris, and here are the three famous aviators who will pilot the great triple-motored giant Sikorsky plane. They are Captain Berry, Fink and Brody. They plan to cook dinner in New York and eat it in Paris.

great interest in the welfare of the boys and in the fact that Harry Littleton, a scout executive of long experience is available to advise and supervise the organization of the work locally.

A concerted movement is on foot this week to arouse the whole town to the advantages of Boy Scout activities and to the enrollment of the boys who would be most benefited by membership.

While scouting has been an active force throughout the country for years and the general nature of the work understood, there will be doubtless some people who will be interested in the following high points in scouting which were prepared by Mr. Littleton to explain the work in a brief manner.

What is Scouting?

1. The Boy Scout movement is a program of character building, citizenship, development and purposeful leisure time activities for boys.

2. It is educational as well as recreational.

3. It develops self-reliance, physical fitness, mental alertness and moral character.

4. Scouting is formative, not reformative, a process of making real men out of real boys by a real program which works.

Why Boys Need Scouting

1. Scouting directs the gang tendencies into socially productive channels.

2. Scouting values deeds above words. It builds character through service.

3. Boys love action and doing. What they do builds their habits and their lives.

4. Scouting provides adult comradeship in the plastic years from whence crime and religion all recruit their largest numbers.

5. Scouting arouses thought beyond the immediate. (The blind alley job often turns his places in life).

Why Community Needs Scouting

1. Ten per cent of its population are boys.

2. The average American boy has 3,000 hours of leisure time annually, away from home, church or school.

3. That leisure time must be purposefully filled. Vocational training is a big part of the Boy Scout program.

4. Scouting provides opportunities for original public service which rules in a higher conception of citizenship and patriotism.

5. The Boy Scout program trains a boy for useful citizenship—Haines City Herald.

ACQUAINTING VISITORS WITH LAWS OF STATE HIGHWAYS

In an effort to reduce the number of violations of the highway laws next fall and winter the Florida State Chamber of Commerce in a bulletin to Secretaries of local Chambers of Commerce has urged that they adopt its method of replying to persons in the north writing for information preparatory to visiting to Florida. The Chamber declares that in the aggregate Florida Chambers during the next three or four months will receive thousands of requests for information from motorists in all sections of the country and that if each reply contains reference to the law relating to lights and other features many will have been warned before they reach Florida with the consequence that the rules would be obeyed when otherwise they would be violated through ignorance.

The State Chamber in its replies encloses a mimeographed sheet calling attention to the fact that Florida has a forty-five miles an hour speed limit and that the law requires motorists to drive on the right of the highway and to remove their cars from the pavement when not in motion. It is pointed out that not only the law but safety demands that these rules be obeyed for on roads where the speed is the highest in the country it is dangerous to drive in the center of the highway or to remain on the pavement if standing still.

The Chamber informs every motorist that the law requires two front lights and a rear light while driving at night and that the dimming of headlights when meeting other traffic is mandatory. It also points out that the one-way and through street system has been adopted by many cities and towns in the state and urges that the motorist should be constantly on the watch for "stop" and the "one-way" signs and should observe them if he would avoid arrest.

The Chamber declares that because of the widespread interest in Florida the road information when sent to a northern motorist will reach a half dozen or more persons and that these cards thus would become familiar with Florida's rules when otherwise they would not learn about them until halted by an officer after they had entered the state.

Much of the most effective publicity Florida has obtained this summer throughout the country is to be credited to H. H. Mase, of Miami, president of the Florida State Road Association, secretary of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Mase, who is being kept constantly advised by headquarters of the hotel organization in Jacksonville relative to the movement seeking to stabilize charges and to publish maximum and minimum rates, has visited twenty states so far this summer and at every opportunity has obtained publicity concerning the movement and the success with which it is meeting. Mr. Mase incidentally is a member of the Executive Committee of the American Hotel Association and his wide acquaintance in national hotel circles has been instrumental in spreading over a large section of the country the assurance that there will be ample hotel space in Florida this winter at reasonable prices.

Hundreds of the 571 hotels that are members of the Florida association already have notified executives of the organization that they will reduce rates to a marked extent this season and within the next sixty days it is expected the last one will have so acted. Numerous changes in the management of the hotels and the absence from the state at his time of executives has resulted in delay in final action on the part of many.

The Hotel Association is compiling a list of the hotels and the maximum and minimum rates preparatory to forwarding the information to the railroads and steamship companies. The transportation companies soon will begin preparation of their literature to be utilized in seeking tourist business to Florida this winter and several of them will include the hotel rates in their pamphlets and folders.

Twenty-two miles will be looped from the distance between Jacksonville and Daytona Beach and points to the south by January 1, through completion of the new boulevard under construction between St. Augustine and Daytona. The Florida State Chamber of Commerce has been advised that the highway construction forces are ahead of their schedule for reason of the fact that the contractor who was awarded the job split it into three units and sublet it to three other contractors. The highway follows the shore line of the Atlantic Ocean from St. Augustine southward and will terminate at Inlet Terrace, the southernmost extremity of the famous Daytona Beach motor speedway.

The distance between Jacksonville and Daytona Beach over the existing highway via St. Augustine, Hastings and Bunnell is 100 miles. The distance over the new route will be only 87 miles.

way between Jacksonville and Dunell and particularly between St. Augustine and the latter point.

It required the Southern Exposition at New York last year to convince skeptics that the South produces commodities besides cotton, tobacco and sugar cane and as a result this section now is literally in the eyes of the industrialists of the nation says "Expansion", official publication of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Florida was not represented as a state in last year's exposition but when the doors to Madison Square Garden are opened October 2, for the 1938 show it will be there on a large scale according to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

The State Chamber some months ago succeeded in obtaining first choice of space in the garden for the exposition this year and selected approximately 5,000 square feet near the Forty-ninth street entrance, the pick of all the locations.

It is proposed to send to New York examples of everything Florida produces from its mines, its farms, its factories and its waters. No attempt whatever will be made to sludge out any particular section of the state to supply material for the exhibit is to be representative of all Florida from the Perdido river to Key West.

The week of September 27-October 2 has been selected as the annual Florida Post Card Week the Florida State Chamber of Commerce announces. It has been the custom of local Chambers of Commerce, Realty Boards and other organizations throughout Florida for some years to mail as many Florida postcards as possible to all sections of the country during a designated week in the late summer or early autumn and in past years an avalanche of such advertising matter has been sent from the state during the period.

Local Chambers of Commerce throughout the state will issue an appeal to citizens to prepare cards for mailing with a request that they be delivered at headquarters of the organizations in order that there may be a systematic movement.

BANKRUPTCY ACTION IS STARTED FOR BANKERS FINANCE CO.

The state comptroller has filed bankruptcy proceedings against the Bankers Finance Company of Jacksonville. This was done, he announced in order to conserve the assets and protect the depositors of the banks in his charge as far as possible. He found that a number of the banks recently closed and now seeking to reopen had capital stock being held by the Bankers Finance Company and the proceedings have been filed in an effort to effect release of that stock.

The Bank of Tavares, recently closed, has reopened, according to the comptroller. The bank will be capitalized at $50,000, with a surplus of $10,000.

PACKING HOUSES MUST REGISTER WITH MAYO

TALLAHASSEE.—In a letter to all citrus fruit packing houses, J. H. Hinton, director, supervising inspector of the state department of agriculture, called their attention to section 4 of the citrus fruit law and to regulation No. 8, which requires that all packing houses shall be registered with the commissioner of agriculture not less than 10 days nor more than 30 days before the then present or the next ensuing shipping season.

Attention was also directed to a further provision of the same section which provides that each packing house shall give not less than seven days' written notice to the commissioner of agriculture of intention to open and operate such previously registered packing house.

Mr. and Mrs. Sallie

—being the Confessions of a new wife—

Barry Proposes
"Will you marry me, Sallie?" Barry asked. He ignored my outburst of anger and his voice was vibrant with hope as if he had not heard my spiteful criticism of him, which I had offered in Curtiss' defense.

Never in all my life had I been so surprised. Notwithstanding the fact that my astonishment must have manifested itself on my face, Barry was undisturbed.

"Won't you dearest?" he urged.
"I can't even think that you're not joking," I replied. "Why Barry, since when have you been in the habit of running around the country proposing to married women?" I wanted him to think that I regarded his proposal in a flimsy light.

A puzzled frown swept his face for a moment and then he continued talking, his mood gaining in intensity with every word. "Love will drive us to great lengths, Sallie," he said. "It gives courage to him who has no reason for hope and puts wings to fancy's flight. Spurred on by visions of the happiness we could attain I was compelled to ask you to come with me, my dear."

A dancing light glowed in his great brown eyes which never for an instant left my face. "Listen Sallie," he hurried on. "I can see it all! You and I going hand in hand along the highway of life, high winds of adventure fanning our emotions and keeping us ever responsive to the call of youth. How sweet, how thrilling, how satisfying and joyous each day would be with you by my side through the golden hours."

His love-making, like his music, was out of the realm of the commonplace. There was an exquisite poignancy about it and a genuine sincerity that rang in his every word. I could no longer regard his affection for me in a light-hearted manner, for, to have done so, would have been to the young musician a cruel blow to his earnestness and his pride.

I realized that his proposal was impossible from the start but, on account of his serious attitude, I knew I would have to go into the subject, and, step by step, show him the utter folly of his plan.

"In the first place," I began.
"Oh, I know," he interposed, "you're going to bring up the subject of Curtiss again, but I swear to you I will make you forget him, once you are mine. It is your loyalty to the things that you think your marriage stands for that makes you continue to uphold him at any cost. Then too, time has dimmed the unhappiness you suffered when you were with him and felt his imperious neglect. It has softened the pain of those desolate hours. Remember, dearest, my sole purpose in life will be to fill your days with joy."

"No, no, Barry, please," I put out my hand as if I would stop him by force. He misinterpreted the gesture and, taking my hand in his, held it close. "Inside from the question of Curtiss," I stumbled on, "what about yourself? You told me in Paris once that it would ruin your future to even consider taking into yourself a wife. Don't you remember, Barry, your song about the 'Little House'—that you wanted but could never own? Because you felt that you would have to sacrifice all thought of domestic bliss on the altar of your career?"

He listened intently and I felt that at last I had hit upon a more appealing argument to turn his attention from the plan he had proposed.

"I didn't think there was a chance then of my ever having you, Sallie, dear, and that's why I said what I did," he hesitated a full moment and then continued. "There was another reason, as well, at that time," he said. "Lemoyne." I asked softly and although he did not reply I knew that I had discovered his reason for declaring that day in his studio that he would never wed. As vivid as a haunting strain of music or the echo of some remembered perfume came the tete-a-tete I had had with Andre Molere the night of Lemoyne's triumph at the Opera Comique. He had told me how it was common gossip among their set that the singer's adoration for Barry greatly exceeded his regard for her and had also hinted that while Barry had, at one time, faintly responded to her charms that his sentiment had changed and that his only interest in the singer, even then, was that of a very dear friend.

"But you cared for her once? You loved her very much at one time?" I questioned again.
"Not love, Sallie. Lemoyne will tell you that I never loved her. A friend, a close friend, but love, the sort of love I have for you, never!" he exclaimed.

"But what of her, Barry, you can not possibly ignore the way she feels towards you."

"You haven't seen her lately, you know, and—if she ever had it—she's forgotten any such idea. If she cared it was probably the result of her highly strung imagination." Barry's modesty was one of his most charming traits. For instance he was bound to have known the depth of the singer's adoration and yet, in spite of the flaming idolatry lavished on him by her for years, I don't think he even admitted to himself that he had the whole heart of the beautiful Lemoyne.

And so, one by one, my objections to his proposal were swept aside.

"But your music?" I returned to the subject which, more than any other, had more influence in his life. "You have already gained a certain measure of fame, and I know some day you will be one of the immortals, like Beethoven, Chopin or Bach, if you allow nothing to come between you and your art."

"But, my dearest, don't you realize that you would inspire me to greater heights, your faith in me would be an incentive to the accomplishment of all my dreams?"

I shivered although the room was warm, because I thought of how Curtiss had begged me to have confidence in him and I had lacked sufficient faith to do the thing he had asked.

"You must not admire me so, Barry, even in the qualities you admire most. I have failed. I have so many limitations, which I realize myself, and I would have you do the same."

Your imprudence is one of your most blessed traits and I won't permit your own perfect self."

A clock in the distance chimed out the hour of six. Barry moved restlessly. "I hate clocks and time," he declared. "I wish there were no such things." Then, completing his thought he said, "Listen Sallie, dear, I'm playing in our first concert of the series tonight. I'm going to play 'Valse'—your composition, for the very first time. Can't you give me a bit of hope so that when I go before the audience tonight I'll put something into my music that I've never found there before? Can't I have the assurance, from your own sweet lips, that perhaps someday, 'you'll be mine'?"

My first impulse was to deny the possibility of the relationship which he so desired and which I knew could never exist. To assure the young musician of my friendship for him but to round him of the irrationality of his suggestion and ask him never to mention the subject again.

Then, swift as an eagle's wing, my thought changed. To dash his hopes to the ground just before he was to appear in concert and give his marvellous composition to the public for the first time, would be unnecessarily little and mean. I must not allow myself to be as selfish as that! Knowing the musician's mercurial nature it was just possible that upon my answer would depend the successful rendition of his glorious music which he had written for me, and, in my honor, named the Russian word for "Spring." I would be an act of kindness to encourage Barry on his "night of nights."

I dropped my eyes to the dainty tea cup in which the amber liquid had long grown cold and my lips moved. "Perhaps," I said softly. But when I looked up again I knew by the light that leaped in Barry's eyes that he had heard.

IN CONFIDENCE

The Problem of Selecting a Wife

Dear Miss F.—I am a young man of twenty-eight, a college graduate, (and I believe, cultured, and intelligent.) Here is my problem: I am very much in love with a girl of twenty-two, and I'd like to marry her, but we have so little in common that I'm afraid we would become bored with each other. I am a quiet, stay-at-home nature, fond of music and reading, while she is crazy about parties and jazz, and is not the least bit interested in anything intellectual. Actually, her only desire seems to be to have a riotous good time, in her own particular way. She has no social advantages, and I doubt that she would be very successful socially as the wife of a prominent business man. But I love her so much that I'm almost willing to take the chance, in the hope that marriage may change her views. F. H.

The power of sex, which must be the main attraction in your case, will not be great enough to hold together in comradeship, happiness, and enduring love, the man and woman of no common interests. If married life were one continual round of love-making, the attraction might serve. But it isn't. Only the broad, general, common interests of life can develop the affection and comradeship that will survive for a lifetime.

The average couple who differ on certain things can manage to attain happiness by making compromises. A few points of incompatibility must arise between two people, but where the lack of common interests is so marked in your case, that marriage seems to be a very hazardous venture.

I'd like to tell you to go ahead and marry the girl you care so much for, but I'm afraid if you did you would be miserable the rest of your life, because the most important thing in matrimony is compatibility. Happiness is only possible when two people enjoy the same things, have the same ideas and ideals, and mutually are equals.

You already suspect that you might grow tired of the woman who knows or cares nothing about the things that bring you happiness. Perhaps you also realize that you could not even talk to her, except as to a child, because she would not be able to understand anything that is outside of her range of limited experiences. Were she a girl of a different nature—were she willing to make the necessary effort to acquire education and culture, it would be a different story, but the girl who is too inert and lazy, who is too pleasure-loving and self-indulgent to go to school and acquire an education, is scarcely a successful wife for a prominent business man, for she will not even be able to fulfill the duties of a gracious hostess to his friends.

Only the intelligent, educated woman who brings all of her mentality to bear on her problem, can make the most of wife who is a real helpmate to a man.

Do you keep a pencil more than one day? Neither do we. That's the reason more than one billion are manufactured in America each year.

DAUGHTERY AGAIN

Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney-General of the United States, soon again will be the center of public interest in a familiar role.
On September 7 he is scheduled to go on trial in Federal Court on a charge of conspiring with Col. Thomas W. Miller to defraud the government of "their good and honest services" when they willfully and knowingly authorized the transfer of $7,000,000 in cash and securities from the custody of the government to the Societe Suisse pour l'Acquisition de Metaux without carefully weighing and searching the merits of the Swiss Corporation's claim.

Further, it is alleged that Daugherty and Miller were actuated by the hope of personal gain. The seven million dollars represents the sale of the stock of the American Metal Company, corporation formerly controlled by Germans and taken over by the government after our entrance in the war.

Daugherty's regime in public office was a record when the Teapot Dome scandal broke. Amazing stories of federal graft were given to the people. The country was shaken to its foundations. And now we are to hear more of appalling betrayal of public trust. According to the federal charges, the trial may prove to be one of the most famous in American history.

THE JUNK PILE

By CAP

There was a charming lack of uniformity, whatever that means, in the matter of Labor Day. Some labored and some didn't. Some stores were open and some closed. Some went to Daytona, and some to Annapolis, and some stayed at home. Anyway, Labor Day is supposed to mark the end of the summer season, and with the passing of that period, its time we all woke up and went to it to get ready for the winter season.

One of the most important things is the cleaning up of the city. Orlando has a slogan that runs "Paint up and clean up," and it would not do us any harm to emulate our big sister to the north of us.

The "City Fathers," (or are they step-fathers?), are doing their share, and the waist high grass in many a vacant lot shows evidence that the city moving machine is on the job. Meanwhile how about our own front and back yards? A little sticking up and lawn mowing wouldn't do a bit of harm and would help things out materially.

Instead of loafing next Thursday afternoon let's get busy and hustle the lawn mower and the scythe.

It was said the other day that if "Cap" did happen to beat "Blaine" playing golf the Junk Pile "Bust wide open." That's perfectly true, but as a matter of fact said "Cap" was killed within an inch of his life. Just wait though. The season is early yet, and you never can tell what will happen.

Did any citizen of St. Cloud ever try to keep up with "Lee" Trickle's walk when he out surveyed? His idea of a summer is a speed of eight miles an hour. We would like to see him sometime when he was really in a hurry. "Bee," we said, Now try to keep up with him.

"Lee's" work in surveying the new golf course has been splendid and he should have the thanks and appreciation of every one who has the interests of St. Cloud at heart, and who has the vision to see what a golf course means for the enhancement of this community.

The golf course thing is coming on a plenty. The survey is all done, the estimate down to the last pound of fertilizer are in and everything is ready to shoot. On another page there is an itemized outline of costs of con-

BREEZES

The Sarasota Herald comments on Florida breezes, including them among the important assets of the state. The Herald is altogether right. These Florida breezes should receive more publicity than they do, for they are among the actual, tangible resources of Florida.

This is about the only state in the union which is not afflicted at times by winds which are decidedly uncomfortable, if not destructive. This is probably due to the fact that the state is almost entirely surrounded by water, and large bodies of water make breezes congenial.

The winter breezes of Florida are moderated to an agreeable warmth that gives an ideal winter climate for those who desire to escape the rigors of the North and West. The summer breezes bring a soft coolness to the air that offsets the temperature, even though it may hover in the eighties, as it does during so much of the summer. There is never anything hot or harsh about a Florida summer breeze. It always brings a delightful moderation of the heat.

People who do not know about the breezes quite naturally think that a section so far south must of necessity be oppressively hot. It would be if it were not for the constant movement of air across the peninsula, air that is cooled in summer and warmed in winter by the gulf and the ocean. There are no blistering southwest winds and no blighting north winds. From what ever direction the wind comes, it is a friendly wind that makes for comfort and pleasure.

It is well enough to talk of our beaches, our fruits, our tropical flowers. We could not enjoy those so much if it was not for our breezes, the ever-present friends of Florida, making life always delightful.—Miami Herald.

DON'T FAN THE BLAZE

President Coolidge a few days ago called upon American newspapers to refrain from publication of unfounded rumors concerning the country's relations with foreign powers which, he said, were most cordial.

Dissemination of reports not based on actual fact is dangerous, the president pointed out, particularly when every agency should strive constantly to cement friendship with foreign countries.

Mr. Coolidge doesn't include the country press when he advises editors to treat much of the foreign "news" with caution. His statements were directed at the metropolitan editor who delights in spreading before his readers uncomplimentary and unfriendly yarns which usually have no foundation.

Mr. Coolidge's suggestion that the Golden Rule be followed in publication of news tending to review our foreign relations, is a good one. Foreigners are just as sensitive as Americans.

"I know my own limitations," says Governor Donahue of Ohio, in asserting that he will not be a candidate for president. At last, a modest officeholder!

Would the boats dragged from New York bay by revenue officers be designated as bay run?

other afternoon, and the progress that is being made there is fine. A new playground is being cleared and a new High School is going up. Our hats are off to our Eastern neighbor.

Narcosness, too, is on its way. "Vice" now has station in nursing completion, and with the new road open to Orlando on the east side of the lake, Narcosness is in for a rapid increase. Let's be more neighborly. Why don't you come over "Vice" and have lunch with us at the Chamber of Commerce. We would all be glad to see you.

In fact as is said elsewhere (if the Ed will pass the article) the Junk Man is a firm believer in the idea that we don't know our friends and neighbors in Kennansville, Narcosness and Holopaw well enough. Melbourne has set us a good example in having a St. Cloud day in their town, and we are going to reciprocate. In the meantime let's have a Holopaw, a Narcosness and a Kennansville Day right here among our own home folks?

If we could get Leon Lamb to play for us again and "Doc" Edwards and "Bill" Smith to sing, we could sure pull an interesting entertainment.

Let's not just talk about it. Let's do it.

Another week will show whether we have the backbone to put the golf course over. The survey is done, thanks to "Lee" Trickle, the estimates are all in on machinery and grass seed and equipment, the terms of the lease are O. K.; everything is set to have the only real golf course in the whole county right here in St. Cloud. One of our neighbors says we never can do it. Let's show them. Come on every one, but your shoulder to the wheel, and we'll put it over big. It means more to the town than a little.

Yes, thanks, the birds are all well, and he fern was watered one day this month anyhow. See you all next week.

OVER THE STATE

According to the Sanford Herald, Edward Higgins, a prominent realtor of that city, predicts that Florida will receive its usual number of winter visitors, and there will be "an absence of pressure buying and speculative foolishness" in the future.

If anybody solicits you for a contribution to the Old Folks Home at Dover, Florida, call the police. There is no such institution.

The exhibits from Orlando and St. Petersburg at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, are gaining much favorable publicity for Florida. The other foreign exhibits there are from France, Colombia, New Zealand, Mexico, India and California.

Preliminary surveys are being made for a railroad from Orlando through Bithin to Port Canaveral, where an ocean terminal and docks are also planned.

That rental rates for rooms and apartments in Clermont is going to be about 50 per cent lower than previously is shown by listings with Secretary Pike of the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

The state hotel department collected $120,015 during the period of January, 1925 to June 1926, principally on licenses for building and operation, according to figures in the office of Jerry W. Carver, commissioner.

A Bradenton publicity committee has leased 100,000 booklets featuring guaranteed hotel rates and telling of the city's progress and indications of future growth.

Henry L. Hollis, president of the Palmer Corporation, which is developing thousands of acres of Sarasota county farm lands, recently said that Florida can develop her back country, fisheries and sea ports. "The day of real estate speculation has gone and will never return. I am not pessimistic, but I do not know that prices which have been placed on lands must be earned. In some instances land prices are several years ahead of themselves. This is not an unhealthy condition, but something must be done to bring these values to the present price levels. This can be done only by development."

Stetson University will open September 15 with the largest enrollment in its history according to S. T. Tatlin, office secretary. Advance registration entitles enrollment of students from many northern states. The new athletic field is ready for the football team, the new pipe organ is installed, and all of the buildings were recently overhauled and renovated.

A toadman can was all that C. E. Fisher of Rustin used to recover a stolen automobile and hold three negroes, the alleged thieves, at bay until the police came. Mr. Fisher found the negroes in possession of the car, which had been stolen from a relative. He gripped the man of toadman in his pocket and forced the negroes to await the arrival of the police.

W. L. Kelley, charged with the theft of suit cases from the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad at Hobbes City, was given a sentence of five years.

Bonnie Field, niece, when picking coconuts from a tree at Fort Pierce, fell to the pavement and died.

Avon Park is the largest crate producing center in the state and one of the largest cranberry fields in the interior of the peninsula.

Migration to Florida this coming season will exceed that of any previous season, according to Judge Jefferson H. Browne, former member of the state supreme court, who has returned to Key West from an extended visit through the east and west.

The city and the chamber of commerce of Gainesville are issuing a "guest card" which may be obtained by non-residents from the chamber or any policeman, and possession of which permits the visitor to park upon the streets of the city without regard to time limits imposed upon residents.

R. I. Harris, of Punta Gorda, has invented a novelty in the form of a combination jack knife and check protector. The knife is of average size with two good blades, and on one end contains an opening into which may be slipped the numerical portion of a check, a lever pressed and the paper is then knifed in a roughened corrugated design and the figures cannot be altered without smearing the design.

Genuine Parson Brown oranges are ripe, but very scarce, says the Punta Gorda Herald. This delectable variety ripens in August and September. When ripe, the rind shows only traces of yellow, but it contains a full measure of delicious juice and will easily pass the test of the fruit inspectors.

Building permits issued for the first eight months of this year Sarasota exceeded those of the corresponding period of 1925 by exactly $1,477,292, according to a report issued by Major Jack Echols, city building inspector.

Oyster beds are being planted by the state in Apalachicola Bay.

Wild horses are known to be roaming in the northern part of Santa Rosa and Okaloosa counties. It is declared that herds of more than 20 such animals have been roaming at will for months, so long that they have drifted back into a wild state and refuse to be captured.

That the paving of the streets in the business section of the city will be completed in three weeks or less was the statement of Ray S. Gatens, city manager of Winter Haven. When finished the city will have 105 miles of pavement of unusual width and will rank with the finest street systems in any city in the state.

Florida Hospitality

The St. Augustine Record says that the chamber of commerce of Miami has its hospitality committee which sends representatives to the pier to meet tourists arriving at that port by steamship, and who are thus given a cordial and a truly Florida welcome. Members of the committee carry roses and hand a rose and a courtesy card to each new arrival. In recounting this custom Jefferson Bell, in her column of the Miami Herald, "Told in Miami Homes," says "One man pulled out some silver when handed a flower and the card, evidently thinking some kind of a drive was on. The woman who handed him the rose said quickly, "No, no, not any money, please," and passed on while he read the courtesy card and smiled at the idea, percolated." The idea of a rose greeting is a pretty one, and will undoubtedly linger long in the minds of visitors thus courteously received. Florida as the Land of Flowers will probably always be associated in their minds with a welcome blended of roses, hospitality and cordiality. This is just one of those "little things" which are always remembered when big events fade into nothingness.

LINEN SHOWER FOR MRS. A. B. WIGGINTON

Mrs. A. B. Cowger and Miss Vera Johnson were hostesses at a linen shower Saturday afternoon at the home of the latter, honoring Mrs. A. B. Wigginton, a recent bride.

Invitations were weather forecasts announcing a Florida snowstorm on September 7 at 3 p. m. in the vicinity of the white house on the corner of Pennsylvania and Eighth Street.

Pink radiance rooms made attractive the large living room where tables were arranged for cards. The table in the dining room represented a snow scene with tiny pine trees and frozen pond. Gifts were hidden away in cotton snowflakes.

After a pleasant hour of the game, hearts, the snow men tallies showed that Mrs. W. F. French held low score. Mrs. French was allowed the honor of presenting the bride's bouquet, which contained clovepin flowers and fern.

Refreshments served were heart shaped ice cream, small snowball cakes and feed tea.

The guests were: Mesdames H. B. Dawley, Loyd Hettinger, C. A. Bailey, Leon Godwin, Colvin Parker, H. E. Crawford, L. C. Hiddle, H. E. Zetrouer, Leslie Parker, Charles Landis, W. F. French, Dan Armstrong, Misses Albee Moon, Kathleen Goff, Rosemary Landis, Gertrude Johnson, and the honor guest, Mrs. A. B. Wigginton.

DINNER PARTY

The home of Mrs. Esther Daniels on Michigan avenue was the scene of a pleasant dinner party last Tuesday.

The guests were: Mesdames Baris Grebe, Rebecca Booth, L. O. Tucker, F. B. Riley, Wm. Phillips, M. A. Campbell, and Mrs. L. M. Parker.

FLAG SEWING CIRCLE

The ladies, who have been sewing for the orphanage, have now organized under the name of the "Flag Sewing Circle". The ladies have been doing excellent work, supplying many garments which were gladly received by the home in Jacksonville for the use of the homeless little tots.

This week the circle will meet at the home of Mrs. James Goff on Indiana avenue, Friday afternoon. Several ladies have promised clothing and the committee will be glad if this is brought to the meeting of the circle. Everyone is welcome.

FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. David Holbrook gave a farewell party Friday evening in honor of her little daughter, Miss Elena, who will leave this week for San Antonio, Florida, where she will attend the Holy Name Academy. The evening was spent with violin music and songs by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Reynolds. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Blumole and children, Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis and children and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Reynolds.

LABOR DAY PICNIC AT MRS. BERTHA G. MANN'S

The many friends of Mrs. Bertha G. Mann are congratulating themselves on having passed a most pleasant afternoon and evening at her residence on Pennsylvania avenue on Labor day. The guests were invited for three o'clock and punctually on time did they commence to arrive in autos loaded down with good eats. The afternoon was spent in social talk. A croquet ground had been provided, but we failed to learn who was the champion player.

Punctually at 5:30 the party, twenty-four in number, assembled at a long table on the lawn and had a most enjoyable supper composed of all good things imaginable. Even a wedding cake made its appearance though the bride and groom failed to be present. The absence of the couple was regretted, but the cake was thoroughly demolished.

Those present were Mrs. Empson, Mrs. Couslin, Mr. and Mrs. Lackey, Mrs. Gus Hoppe, Miss Louisa and Miss Anna Hoppe, Mrs. Andrist, Mrs. D. Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. Giffert, Miss Jean Mabon, Mrs. Libbert, Mrs. Gevern, Mr. and Mrs. Dodd, Mrs. Crum, Mrs. Diehl, Mrs. D. I. Nelson, and also Messrs John Spaulding, Charles Lincoln, Hubbard and W. G. King.

The evening was passed in songs in which "Pat", the dog, was a noted participant; also in recitations by Dad Spaulding and others. The number of beans in a jar (not the number eaten) was guessed by Miss Louise Hoppe, who received a fine glass of jelly for her close guess. The conundrums propounded by Mrs. Lackey and Mrs. Mabon also gave a great deal of amusement. The party broke up at nine o'clock, wishing Mrs. Mann every good wish for her entertainment and for her success in her regular demonstration work.

CHICKEN DINNER

Mrs. Jeanie Tucker entertained some of her friends on Tuesday of last week with a chicken dinner at the home of Mrs. Esther Daniels. Those who were thus honored were: Mrs. Booth, Mrs. L. M. Parker, Mrs. Bacia Grebe, Mrs. James Campbell, Mrs. Frances R. Riley, Mrs. Phillips. The table was beautifully decorated with spider lilies in white and the pink coral vine.

The united ages of the four eldest ladies present was 217 years. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in talking over old times and prophesying of the future of St. Cloud.

CHICKEN DINNER

On last Friday Mrs. Wm. Phillips served a six o'clock chicken dinner. The plates were laid for Prof. H. F. Zetrouer and wife and A. J. Geiger. And they said that Mrs. Phillips knows how to serve the chicken and all the fixings. Some folks are just born lucky.

ST. CLOUD HIGH TO HAVE GOOD FOOTBALL SEASON

With the opening of school next Friday it is expected that a large number of boys will report for the first football practice of the St. Cloud High School team. Coach Hollis is expected to arrive in town any day and will take charge of conditioning and training this year team. Some new equipment has been ordered and will be on hand for the first practice.

All applicants for the team will report at the school house on Friday afternoon, September 19 and receive uniforms.

The faculty athletic director, Professor A. J. Geiger, has through much effort arranged the following schedule:

St. Cloud High School Varsity Football Schedule 1926

October 1—Winter Garden High School, St. Cloud.

October 8—Open.

October 16—Leesburg High School, Leesburg.

October 29—Sanford High School, St. Cloud.

November 5—Wauchula High School, St. Cloud.

November 11—Kissimmee High School, Kissimmee.

November 19—Open.

November 25—Melbourne High School, Melbourne.

With the above schedule it can be seen that this year's team will have a fighting year. With the support of the town's people and High School student body the team can, when the last Turkey goes to roast on Thanksgiving and the football season closes, be looked for on top.

The loss of seven of last year's letter men will be a decided set back to the team but with hard work under the direction of coach Hollis a fast and winning team can be developed.

G. C. HUNTER RETURNS AFTER A BRIEF VACATION

The return of G. C. Hunter to St. Cloud is heralded with real pleasure by all. Since coming to this city about two years ago and identifying himself with the civic associations and becoming a real booster in every thing that meant a bigger and better St. Cloud, he has endeared himself to all who have had any dealings with him. In fact the way he is spoken of as one who "does more than he says he will."

One of the monuments which speak loud for him is the splendid building known as "the Hunter Arms Hotel," upon which he expects to close lease to party that will arrive in few days.

With his associates he has given St. Cloud a beautiful restricted residential section known as the Gallon Gardens which was taken off the market at the close of the winter season, until the lights, water and sewerage had been extended to this part of the city. This has been accomplished during his absence. The streets have been graded and in the near future the paving will begin.

Plans are now being made to reopen the sale of lots in Gallon Gardens. Homes now under course of construction will be rushed to completion, and other homes will be begun by the company and a number of those who bought lots last season will build homes.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held in the high school auditorium on next Monday night September 13th. Every member of the organization should be present.

The following program has been arranged: Community singing; Address by Mrs. M. Puckett-Foster; Piano solo by Marion Conn; Reading by Barbara Whitmer solo by Mrs. Major F. Brooke. We must make this the best school year by far we have ever had in this city, and in order to do this every citizen should make a vow to lend their presence and assistance.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Troop one is just in off their pre-school hike and all look sleepy, but happy. We can understand why the happy look when we see the number of tests passed and the work done, but can not understand why they are sleepy. Wonder if they saw any ghosts of dead cows 'n things? How about it scouts?

From all reports all the wild beasts left the vicinity of scout camp soon as scouts Robert Reen, Albert Milson, Randall Nelson got into action. We all missed Senior Patrol Leader Philpott. This is the first hike he has missed in sometime.

Now for some 100 per cent school work remember the laws and let's go. "Scribe."

SCHOOL BOOKS AT THE WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

Mrs. M. M. Reynolds has moved her book store to the Woman's Exchange on New York avenue in the same room occupied by the Citizen Realty Company. All school books may be obtained here.

SILVER TEA

The silver tea which was to have been held last Monday, was postponed till next Monday on account of Labor Day. All are cordially invited to these meetings which are much enjoyed by all who attend next Monday at Mrs. Wards on Pennsylvania avenue.

Rev. H. H. Bowen, of Mt. Zion, Ga., former pastor of the St. Cloud Methodist church, was in the city for a short visit this afternoon. He came back to Florida to attend the wedding of his son, Joyce Bowen, which occurs tonight at Kissimmee.

DODGE BROTHERS HAVE BUILT 1,750,000 CARS

Dodge Brothers Motor Car No. 1, 750,000 rolled from the assembly line Monday, August 23, at three o'clock p. m., just 11 years, 9 months and 9 days after the first Dodge Brothers car was completed. During this period the plant at Detroit has expanded from a scant 38 acres of floor space to over 130 acres to which additions are constantly being made to care for increased demand.

Car No. 1,750,000, an all steel Special Sedan, is the crowning achievement of nearly twelve years devoted to the constant improvement and refinement of a sound basic design. The dates when Dodge Brothers output passed important production figures show clearly the continuously accelerated demand for the product. The first car was completed November 14, 1914. Two years, lacking 19 days, were required to build the first 100,000.

Car No. 500,000 was completed June 20, 1920; Car No. 750,000, July 21, 1922 and Car 1,000,000 on December 12, 1923. One million cars had been produced at the end of nine years and one month.

The last 250,000 cars were built in 7 months and 9 days, the first 250,000 in 41 months and 12 days.

Car No. 1,500,000 left the line on January 14 this year and was shipped to the Albertson Motor Company of Los Angeles to take its place in the famous "Scout Fleet" consisting of Cars Nos. 300,000, 600,000, 900,000 and 1,200,000. These cars are in constant service on the highways of California laying out and rechecking tourist routes and investigating road conditions for newspapers and automobile clubs. The Albertson Motor Company has a standing order for each 300,000th Dodge Brothers car.

Many other dealers have filed advance orders for cars which mark the completion of large round numbers in production.

Car No. 1,750,000 was shipped to Frank Van Sickle, Dodge Brothers Dealer at Perth Amboy, New Jersey.

A record of having built 1,750,000 motor cars in 11 years, 9 months and 9 days invites attention to Dodge Brothers production and sales policies. Undoubtedly the most important of the policies to which their success should be attributed is the one which always comes to mind at the mention of their name, "Constantly improved, but no yearly models."

SEEKING FLORIDA A PRO-CESS OF EDUCATION

Jacksonville and Melbourne are among several Florida cities now arranging good will tours. Melbourne folk to the number of more than one hundred and fifty are expected to reach here Wednesday; a committee of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce is working out the details of an itinerary that will include central Florida, the scenic Highlands and much of the hill country in a tour of south Florida. Lakeland is to be honored too.

However, all the visiting is not to be done by outsiders; Lakeland proposes to get into the game of seeking an education concerning Florida through the process of personal contact. Plans have yet to be worked out locally but in all probability a tour will be arranged that will serve to not only show us what other communities are doing and are planning but lend encouragement to our sister towns and cities in steadily pushing ahead with the development of this great State. There is no thought of proselytizing or endeavoring to draw people happily located elsewhere, to Lakeland, but simply to enable our own people to catch a vision of what is going on elsewhere, that we may benefit by example and precedent. Of course it would be right and proper to tell others about what we are doing and propose to do but a motorcade is not intended as a barn-burning expedition; rather are such enterprises designed to spread the spirit of good will among communities and to impress upon all that every town and city has its own responsibility toward the State as a whole. The lesson to be learned is that there is no room for sectionalism in Florida; in fact most newspapers are preaching the gospel of brotherly or sisterly love and of co-operation in still further advancing the interests of Florida.

Everyone gets tired of eating the same kind of bread day after day. Introduce variety by having whole wheat, graham, or rye bread once in a while; sweet breads, such as raisin, date, nut or coffee ring; quick breads like muffins and biscuits; crisp breads, including toast, cracker, or bread sticks.

Waxing or varnishing is said to improve the appearance of linoleum and make it last longer.

COMPETITION IN WORDS

One who goes into the market to buy a motor car today is naturally confused.

He has read the words best and greatest so often that they have ceased to be convincing. Where all is best, he reflects, there can be no best.

Thousand-dollar cars have been described to him in ten-thousand dollar language. And vice versa.

He finds himself the target in a war of adjectives; the helpless victim in a gigantic competition of words.

And so he is forced to rely on chance—the advice of friends—or his own limited experience.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., have never participated in this verbal competition.

They are content with the position they have long maintained in the far more vital competition of honest value.

They have continued steadily to improve their product, not only in comfort and beauty, but basically—beneath the body and hood where fundamental values lie.

Yet they have not unduly stressed each betterment that has marked the steady progress of their motor car toward a higher perfection.

And when economic conditions or greater sales have permitted them to reduce prices without reducing quality, they have announced the fact without excessive emphasis.

Unexaggerated truth is not spectacular. But in the long run, implicit public confidence has been Dodge Brothers reward, and this they propose to preserve forever by continuing to build just a little better than they tell.

OSCEOLA COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TRANSACT MUCH BUSINESS

Monday, September 6th was the regular meeting time of the Osceola County Commissioners and, at 10 a. m. Chairman E. L. D. Overstreet in chair and R. T. Minor, A. F. Bass, H. O. Martin, H. P. Stahl, members, and Pat Johnston, attorney for the board, were all present.

D. A. Smith, of Narcoossee, came before the board and stated that the road at Narcoossee was being built before the apportionment and he suggested that the apportionment be first made of the apportionment in moving the road to that section. The board took the matter up with the engineers and it was agreed that the apportionment be first made.

Dr. J. D. Chinn, who is one of the members of the trustees of the special road district No. 2, tendered his resignation and suggested the name of S. W. Porter. The resignation was accepted and Mr. Porter was appointed in his place.

F. A. Stremp came before the board with the petition of Colvin Parker as candidate for Representative, P. W. Ames candidate for Commissioner of District No. 1, and O. B. Bleach candidate for Commissioner of District No. 4, and Peter Tomassello candidate for Commissioner of District No. 5. The petitions were filed as per Mr. Stremp's request.

Mr. Stremp requested Pat Johnston to pass on the legality of these petitions, which he could not do at this time, being attorney for the board.

The notary bond of Miss Margaret McMill was approved.

The clerk presented telegram and letter regarding shipment of road material on the Kennesawville road, the matter was referred to Pat Johnston as attorney for the board.

Pat Johnston reported that a trip down the Kissimmee River in a houseboat saying that the channel in the river was so full of the hyacinths that it had filled it up so that low lands are being flooded and that in his opinion the best way to give relief was by a drag line, this is to be given immediate attention.

Engineers Johnston, Battledand Jones filed estimates of work completed by the several contractors on the roads being built. These were examined by board and accounts were paid.

June Gunn, county agent, requested the board to allow a scholarship to the University of Florida in agriculture for some young man worthy and anxious for this course which could not cost over $150 per year. The board agreed to this with the understanding after the boy was graduated in this line he is to stay in the state and use his education for the benefit of agriculture in this state.

G. A. Igo came before the board to secure permission to plant the palm trees between the railroad and county road through Mena park. He was informed that this was under the jurisdiction of the State Road department.

Petitions were presented for change in the location of the Center Park road. The board agreed to investigate the request and determine what action should be taken.

J. J. Griffin was appointed by the board to procure right of way deeds on Bermuda avenue in Kissimmee for location of the state highway.

Golf Club Committee Reports Cost of Course in St. Cloud

By "CAP"

I doubt if there is any one in the community with so little foresight, who would say that a course would not be a splendid asset to the city. But the cost of purchase and construction has always been the bugaboo, which has stopped the many plans which have been made in the past few years to realize the desired object. The cost of the land, the cost of construction, the cost of a club house, the cost of upkeep, all have seemed an insurmountable obstacle, and such they have been until the present plan was worked out.

Starting with the idea that a course could be built for a figure which we could afford and maintained at a price which would put the game within the reach of all, conditions have been met and overcome until today we are ready to start the construction of a links which will be a credit to the city and a money-maker as well, AND ONE WHICH WILL NOT COST ALL THE MONEY IN THE WORLD EITHER.

The first item has always been the purchase of the land. To build nine holes requires about eighty acres and for an eighteen hole course at least one hundred and twenty. Now we do not need an eighteen hole course, not yet. It is well to prepare for eventualities, but it is an established fact that until a town's population is well over the ten thousand mark nine holes will take care of its golf requirements. Therefore if we had to buy the land even for a nine hole links we would have to start by paying something in the neighborhood of sixteen thousand dollars right now for no suitable land can be obtained on a main road near town for much less than two hundred an acre.

To build a so-called championship course with the aid of an imported golf architect would cost at least one thousand dollars a hole or nine thousand for construction. Then there would be the item of a club house and unless care is taken on this point it would be easy to have a white elephant swing around our necks in the form of an elaborate structure, the upkeep and the interest on which would break us almost before we were started. Say we were moderate and put ten thousand dollars into that item right on the start. There's a total of thirty-five thousand dollars on our backs to begin with, and the interest on that at the prevailing rate is nearly three thousand a year just plain dead weight.

No, sir, such a plan as that is doomed to failure even if we had all the money in the world, which we have not. What we need, what we must have, if a golf course is to be a permanent success in St. Cloud is something that we can afford to not only build, but maintain afterward. So here is the solution and the plan. In the first place the golf club buys no single inch of dirt. It leases its property, and that thanks to the generosity and civic pride of two men of the city, it can do on most favorable terms. The objection to leased land for a golf course is that sooner or later the lease runs out and the land with all the improvements placed upon it by the club goes back to the owner. This objection has been overcome in two ways. First the lease is for ten years with a renewal privilege of ten years, twenty years in all, and also the club has the right of option to buy the land at any time during the life of the lease, the valuation at the time of purchase to be decided by a board of arbitrators representing both lessor and lessee impartially. So instead of a sixteen thousand dollar burden this club starts out with no such handicap, and none the less its future interests are protected.

The next question is the construction cost. Here again we are in a position to save money. Labor is labor, but as it happens there is a man in the city, who has had considerable golf course construction experience and instead of having to pay an "expert" a fee of a thousand dollars or more, that sum is saved from the construction cost. Not only that but the new course has the benefit of fine engineering experience, and our County Agricultural Agent is lending a valuable hand in advising as to fertilizers and seed best adapted to our own particular conditions. It might be said that the new course has the benefit of not one, but three experts, and that without costing a single penny.

And finally the matter of the club house. No one would like better than the writer to see a magnificent structure with all the modern trimmings, but let's cut our cloth to suit our pattern. We can't afford a lot of splendorousness, not now, so the plan is to build a modest structure, a locker room with showers, a room for the women members, a kitchenette so that light meals can be served if there is a sufficient demand for them, and with great wide piazzas where we can have club dances or social gatherings if we want to, a piazza with quiet nooks where one may play bridge, or talk, or just sit, if one does not care to "shoot". A place in short where, we, everyone of us may be proud to take our friends or visitors at an afternoon or an evening, and yet a place which we can build and maintain without the necessity of going broke in the process. It won't be a palace, it may seem crude in comparison with many, but it will be comfortable and will have the greatest comfort of all, it will be something we won't have to shudder at every time we think of how much it is costing. By and by a splendid club house, yes, all by all means, but let's creep before we try to go into sprint races in the meantime.

All this is within the reach of the city; all this may be realized. We will have to work to make the dream come true, but thanks to the plan which has been perfected by the Golf Committee, it is within our pocket books. The plan is right, the cost is within our means, the sight is the best in almost the whole county. Are we big enough to put it over?

Mt. Dora Celebrates Opening of Bank With Huge Demonstration

MT. DORA, Sept. 8.—Mount Dora has held many celebrations in the past and has had many demonstrations of enthusiasm on the part of her citizens but none before has ever equaled that of Tuesday following the opening of the Bank of Mount Dora which, closed simultaneously with five other Lake county banks July 13 due to the failure of the Bankers' Trust company of Georgia.

More than one hundred automobiles all gaily decorated with banners carrying inscriptions such as "Business as usual in Mount Dora, watch out, come back," "No room for slackers in Lake county," "We are strong for our old bank," "Tangerine 100 per cent with us," "Our old bank is open, depositors did it," "Georgia can't keep us closed," "Less than 1 per cent of slackers in Mount Dora," "We pull together," "Sarsaparilla 100 per cent with us," "We took our officers and directors," formed a motorcade and with brass bands and tinkling horns visited Tuscora, Eustis and Umatilla and hurried forth the fact that the first day's deposits had reached practically one hundred and fifty-two thousand dollars.

When the bank closed July 13 about one million dollars were on deposit and between seven and eight hundred of the depositors are winter visitors to this city, most of whom are still in the north, whose signatures took time to secure. Comptroller Ernest Ames has written a letter urging depositors in the Florida and Umatilla banks to sign up the agreement and it is expected that within a few days these banks will also reopen. The Bank of Tavares and the First State Bank of Clermont opened last week and are enjoying a very satisfactory business.

Methodist Episcopal church, Mrs. Cox; Supt. from Christian church, Mrs. Bullock; Supt. from Christian Science church, Mrs. Lacker; Supt. from Episcopal church, Miss Maude Weeks; Supt. from Evangelical church, Mrs. Ward; Supt. of Child Welfare, Dr. Chapman-Gleason; Supt. of Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Lacker; Supt. of Flower Mission, Mrs. Lathrop; Supt. of Sunday Schools, Mrs. Lang; Supt. of Temperance and Missions, Mrs. Philpott; and Supt. of Moral Control, Mrs. Barrager.

The Union was favored with very interesting talks from Mr. Campbell, Mr. Beauchamp and Mrs. Nettie Hone-diet on the Temperance work.

The meeting adjourned to meet September 17 at 2:30 o'clock for prayer. Every member should be present at this time and lift their voice in prayer of faith to further the Temperance work which is so much needed.

Veterans in Pittsburg Baseball Shakeup

The recent shake-up on the Pirate Ball Club has given fandom food for many weeks' gossip. "Babe" Adams (left), Carson Bigbee (right) were released from the team, and Max Carey (center) was indefinitely suspended for alleged insubordination by the Pittsburg management. If these penalties are inflicted it may cost the Pirates the flag.
